

IDM Announces Results from AGM; David Parker and Andrew Farncomb Join the Board of Directors

June 16th, 2014, Vancouver, BC, Canada – IDM Mining Ltd. (TSX:IDM) (“IDM” or the “Company”) (previously Revolution Resources Corp.) is pleased to announce that David Parker and Andrew Farncomb were elected to the Board of Directors at the AGM held earlier today. Shareholders also re-elected Michael McPhie, Robert McLeod and Aaron Keay. Georg Hochwimmer did not stand for re-election; the Company is grateful for Georg’s contributions and looks forward to continuing to work with him as a consultant.

“The addition of David Parker and Andrew Farncomb gives IDM two new strong, and enthusiastic Independent Directors,” said Rob McLeod, President and CEO. “David is considered one of Canada’s foremost leaders and authority in Social License and Sustainability in the mining industry, and Andrew brings strong corporate finance experience, based out of Toronto. We look forward to their contributions and oversight as we advance the Red Mountain Gold Project.”

David Parker

David Parker recently joined the Norman B. Keevil Institute of Mining Engineering at the University of British Columbia Faculty of Applied Science on a two year secondment as an Adjunct Professor and Executive in Residence. In addition to teaching in the graduate program, Mr. Parker is developing new programs and initiatives related to governance of the extractives sector, integrated resource management and sustainable livelihoods. He is also working closely with academia, the mining industry, civil society, and government to establish the recently announced Canadian International Institute of Extractive Industries and Development.

Mr. Parker was previously Vice President Sustainability at Teck Resources Limited and is currently on secondment. Over the 22 years that he has been with Teck, Mr. Parker has led and collaborated in several initiatives to advance Teck’s approach to sustainability and has been particularly focused on creating mutually respectful and collaborative relationships with First Nations people in Canada. He has conceived and implemented a number of visionary initiatives, such as the Sullivan Round Table, a conference co-chaired by Teck, the City of Kimberley and the World Bank to examine best practices in mine closure. Mr. Parker was the inspiration for the Zinc Saves Kids program with UNICEF, which is active in saving children’s lives in Nepal, Peru and India. He also developed Teck’s role in the Vancouver 2010 Olympic Winter Games and chaired the Olympic Sponsor’s Sustainability Initiative.

Mr. Parker has chaired the Mining Association of British Columbia and the International Council on Mining and Metals Social and Economic Development Task Force. He currently serves as a director on the boards of UNICEF Canada, the Mining Association of British Columbia, and Science World. His education includes a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Acadia University, a Bachelor of Law degree from Dalhousie University and a Masters of Law degree from the University of British Columbia where he has served as an adjunct professor in environmental law.

Andrew Farncomb

Mr. Farncomb graduated from the Queen's University School of Business with a Bachelor of Commerce (Honours) degree. He is a founding partner of Cairn Merchant Partners LP, an independent merchant bank offering a full range of advisory services to public and private companies. Mr. Farncomb has extensive experience advising public and private companies on mergers, acquisitions and financing transactions, in the natural resources, consumer products, industrial, technology and media sectors. Mr. Farncomb was formerly a Partner and Investment Banking professional at Paradigm Capital Inc., a Canadian investment dealer. Mr. Farncomb sits on the Board and is Chair of the Investment Committee at the Flavelle Foundation.
